Concerned about the care you have received?

The Code of Conduct for Unregistered Health Practitioners sets out what you can expect from your health practitioner. If you have concerns about the health service that was provided to you or a family member, talk to the health practitioner immediately. In most cases the health practitioner will try to resolve your concerns.

If you're not able to deal direct with the health practitioner, or you're not satisfied with the health practitioner's response, please contact the Health and Community Services Complaints Commissioner's Enquiry Service:

- Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm on telephone number 8226 8666 or if you are in regional South Australia, call from a landline on 1800 232 007
- Write to HCSCC - PO Box 199, Rundle Mall SA 5000
- Visit the website and fill out an online complaint form www.hcsccl.sa.gov.au
- Send a fax to HCSCC on 8226 8620

HCSCC can help if you have special needs, such as requiring an interpreter.

This document is a "plain English" version of the Code of Conduct as determined by the Health and Community Services Complaints Commissioner in accordance with regulation 5B(2)(a) of the Health and Community Services Complaints Regulations 2005. This document is also in a form determined by the Minister for Health and Ageing in accordance with regulation 5B(2)(c) of the Health and Community Services Complaints Regulations 2005.

Timeframe

From 14 March 2013 health practitioners, including MAA Therapeutic, Remedial and Myotherapy Accredited Members, who are not within the ambit of the Australian Health Practitioners' Regulation Agency (AHPRA) will have to comply with a Code of Conduct and display certain information where they practice. The Code of Conduct for Unregistered Health Practitioners establishes a range of minimum standards for unregistered health practitioners.

What happens if there is a breach of the Code of Conduct?

If a health practitioner (MAA Therapeutic, Remedial and Myotherapy Accredited Member) is found to have breached the Code of Conduct following an investigation, the Health and Community Services Complaints Commissioner (the Commissioner) may make a prohibition order.

A prohibition order can be made when the Commissioner is of the opinion that the health practitioner poses an unacceptable risk to the health or safety of members of the public.

An order made by the Commissioner may prohibit a health practitioner from providing health services, or specified health services, for a specified period of time or permanently. An interim order may also be made.
